As a simple self-employed person at the time, I organized and carried out my first seminars and coaching sessions on the topics of motivation, time management, learning strategies, dealing with exam anxiety, etc. in after my own Abitur. Due to growing demand on my YouTube channel, which was also founded in on the above topics, I founded our GmbH in with a business partner, which quickly rose to number 1 in the niche. Today I run the company alone with 2 other full-time employees, a working student and two freelancers. We have successfully managed to establish a much more effective alternative to classic tutoring and to standardize high-priced sales in the student/education market. The company is now complete (incl.
