Construction supervision, sampling of materials and mediation

The company is known for its high-quality XXL tiles in sizes of up to 300x150cm. The installation requires a special technique similar to the installation of large panes of glass, which is carried out by specialized subcontractors. The clientele, which attaches great importance to exclusive designs and quality, often comes from affluent regions, which opens up additional business opportunities.

The company works with three subcontractors, who are secured by work contracts. The goods are often delivered directly from the manufacturer to the construction site, making the process efficient and safe. For internal deliveries of goods, a factoring company is involved.

The showroom allows customers to view, combine and test materials on site. The premises also offer space for the exhibition of future products.
