Digital Marketing and eCommerce

We recycle what you have built. Before it is finally lost.

You've put a lot of time, energy, and maybe your whole heart into an eCommerce project – a shop, a brand, an idea.

And today you stand there and think: "I've tried everything. But it just doesn't work."

Then please read on.

This is not a classic exit.

We are not looking for highly profitable brands with VC decks and fat profits.

We are looking for honest projects that fail or have already fallen.

Because we believe that they may still deserve a second life.

Why do we do this?

Because we have seen that many founders start with passion – but at some point you will notice:

Interest % business

Revenue % profit

Marketing costs more than expected

The heart burns – but the account balance freezes

The idea was good. The implementation, perhaps, not quite.

But: It was not in vain.
