Sales Department

What would you think if you had your own sales department that also generates extensive profits and advances your core business in sales?

We are looking for a successor or financial investor/family office for an agency that works as an optimized and scalable sales and customer success system.

Its core competence is the professional acquisition, support or reactivation of new, old or existing customers of the respective clients.

The company has enjoyed an excellent reputation in these areas for almost three decades and serves customers in the DACH region across industries, in some cases on a recurring basis for several years, and constantly works with a waiting list of new customers.

The current capacity is already firmly booked until the second quarter of 2026 and due to the lead time of orders, there is the possibility of scaling the company by creating further capacity.
