Personnel Consulting / Executive Search

For sale is an established and nationally active personnel and executive search consultancy with many years of market presence, resilient customer relationships and a grown network on the client and candidate side. The company has been active in the search, evaluation and development of specialists and executives for decades and has a clear positioning in the high-quality consulting environment.

The service portfolio includes in particular executive search, direct search, management diagnostics and leadership consulting. Thanks to a broadly diversified range of industries, experienced advisory structures and an extensive, well-maintained database with around 100,000 contacts, there are attractive foundations for further growth. The company works with well-known medium-sized and larger companies and benefits from long-term customer relationships as well as recurring mandate structures.
