Established, profitable mobile catering company with a strong market position and valuable infrastructure

For sale is a company that has been successfully managed since 1998 in the field of mobile gastronomy with a focus on grilled chicken and complementary snack products. Over decades, the company has built up a high level of regional awareness, a stable customer base and a sustainably consolidated market position.

Operations are carried out via five modern sales vehicles, which currently serve more than 20 highly frequented and firmly established locations. This grown location structure ensures a high level of planning security and continuous, recurring revenues. The business model is based on standardised, efficient processes in preparation, logistics and sales and is therefore leanly organised and very scalable.
